The Department of Electronic Media and Mass Communication is a young, thriving and dynamic entity, which was set up in 2007 as Centre for Electronic Media and Department of Mass Communication.

The agenda of the department is to help students grasp the finer aspects of media production, media critique, media literacy and media research.

The Department offers two Post Graduate and Ph.D programmes in Electronic Media and Mass Communication.

The department wears a Pan-Indian look with students enrolling from all over the nation.

INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S DAY

Ambitious, confident, cheery and many other adjectives would still be inadequate to understand the pride and glory of women in society.

From domestic space to the world outside, we have women donning many hats, taking the road not taken to achieve unseen heights.

Let's celebrate Women's day to rejoice the essence and greatness of being a woman.

ALUMNI...

They are archived in our department. Deep in our souls and echoing in our thoughts. Their beads of memories are strewn all over.

They worked hard, performed, cheered, chased dreams and walked into the future conquering their choicest careers.

It is time to welcome our alumni to the old turf that in some sense or the other happened to be the bedrock of their life.

Let us unite, celebrate and deepen our relationship with each other.
